Pitt. Teachers Claim Victory, End Walkout

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A teachers union that struck in defiance of a court order claimed victory Sunday and voted to end its 11-day walkout.

"I think the teachers have won a victory," said Albert Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO. "They have won a right to an election."

The Union accepted a settlement forged early Sunday with the help of state legislators and the judge who tried to block the strike. It ended the union's two-year drive for an election to set a collective bargaining agent.

The Board of Education had contended it had no right to bargain with a single teacher representative. The settlement committed state legislators to pass a law so the board could recognize a union if the teachers want one.

Fondy said the union, which represents a third of the city's 3,000 public school teachers, was promised an election would take place before the Easter vacation.

Meanwhile, the schools prepared to resume normal operations Monday. High schools had to be closed for two days because of rowdiness and teacher shortages, but later reopened on half-day schedules.

Supt. Sidney Marland asked that "we return completely and without malice on either side to the work of educating Pittsburgh children."

A total of 59 pickets were arrested during the strike. Allegheny County Common Pleas Court Judge John Hester, who tried to block the strike, fined the pickets up to $50. None were jailed.

Fla. Teachers Urged to Stay Off Jobs

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Education Association Sunday called on the "hard core" of 18,500 striking teachers to stay off their jobs despite an agreement with the State Board of Education to recommend that teachers return to classes on Monday.

Phil Constans Jr., executive secretary of the teachers' association, said the decision was taken "because of the vindictive attitudes of some school boards and superintendents who are refusing to take back all resigned teachers and administrators."

Earlier, the association said school boards in 20 of Florida's 67 counties had agreed to rehire everyone.

The Florida Education Association agreed Friday to recommend that teachers return to school, ending a three-week statewide walkout. That agreement came after the State Board of Education adopted a nine-point resolution pledging an extra $10.2 million to schools this year.

On Thursday, a bill providing $254.5 million more for schools to be raised with a 33 per cent hike in state sales taxes and whopping hikes in cigarette and whiskey taxes—became law without Gov. Claude Kirk's signature.

About 26,000 of the state's 60,000 public school teachers went on strike Feb. 16, claiming that bill did not provide enough new money for schools.

Some 8,000 teachers have trickled back into schools during the three-week walkout. Dexter Hagman, president of the teachers' association, said, "We have a hard core of 18,500 who will stand together."

County Records 1st Two Highway Fatalities of '68

Warren County recorded its first two highway fatalities of 1968 over the weekend when a Warren resident was killed in an accident on Hemlock rd. and a man from the Sheffield area died in an Erie hospital of injuries suffered in a crash a week ago.

Elmer N. Christensen, 42, 374 Hemlock rd., was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital Saturday afternoon after the truck he was driving went out of control on Hemlock rd. and crashed into a tree. Death was attributed to extensive internal injuries by Dr. Ross Bryan, Warren County coroner.

Christensen's truck left the road, travelling about 50 feet along the south berm before crossing the highway and smashing into the tree, investigating state police said.

John D. O'Donnell, 22, Roystone, died in St. Vincent's Hospital Saturday morning of massive head injuries suffered in a collision March 2 on Rt. 6 east of Sheffield.

He lost control of his vehicle, a small Japanese station wagon, which climbed an embankment, struck a traffic sign and a rock three feet in diameter and overturned, state police said. O'Donnell fell from the car, striking his head on the road. He was taken to the Kane Community Hospital and later transferred to the Erie hospital.

Big 3 Challenged to Write Guarantees into 'A' Treaty

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany challenged the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain Sunday to write guarantees against political pressure and blackmail of the nuclear have-nots into the proposed treaty against the spread of atomic weapons.

"A ban against threats, political pressure or political blackmail against non-nuclear powers should be in the treaty. Such a provision would be just and reasonable compensation to the renunciation (of atomic weapons) by the non-nuclear powers," said a German memorandum to the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

The statement, listing several improvements desired in the draft treaty, was handed members of the 17-nation conference Friday in Geneva and made public Sunday.

The United States, the Soviet Union and Britain Thursday stated their readiness to act through the U.N. Security Council in defense of a non-nuclear nation threatened with atomic attack. But the German statement said it should be made a violation of the treaty if a nation that renounces atomic weapons is threatened by a nuclear power.

While reiterating Bonn's support for the principle of nonproliferation, the statement said that in its present form the Geneva draft treaty has not fulfilled all the desires of the non-nuclear nations. It needs further improvement to make it "acceptable worldwide, effective, lasting and serving the cause of relaxation of tension and security."

The 1,800-word West German statement welcomed presentation of virtually identical American and Soviet draft treaties at Geneva last January as "a significant step" toward the goals of relaxation of tension and reducing the fear of nuclear war.

"I've always felt that it's not just a military struggle... A strong political base hasn't been built in South Vietnam and if more effort is made perhaps we can accomplish more."

He said he disagreed with President Johnson as far as tactics are concerned, but he had to accept that the President wanted to find a peaceful solution. But he added he felt a settlement with North Vietnam was more difficult to achieve now.

Kennedy admitted during the interview that he had considered running for the presidential nomination.

Asked by British interviewer Keith Kyle whether he reached the conclusion that running for the nomination wasn't worth undertaking, Kennedy replied: "It's worth undertaking but the useful goal seemed to me very slight and I'm not going to run just for the exercise."

Kennedy said he felt the American position in Vietnam was stronger a year ago than it is at the moment.

New Command Activated, Heavy Fighting Forecast

SAIGON (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland activated a new military command Sunday and assigned it the task of blocking five Communist divisions poised to seize South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces. "We intend to confront them," he said and forecast very heavy fighting.

The four-star commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam virtually declared a separate war for the provinces of Thua Thien and Quang Tri, an area the size of Delaware, just below North Vietnam's border.

"The Communist leadership considers Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces part of North Vietnam," Westmoreland said. "I anticipate more very heavy fighting. The enemy's objective is to conquer U.S. and South Vietnamese forces in these provinces and establish political as well as military control."

Prov Corps is under the command of Army Lt. Gen. William B. Ross, 49, a veteran of nearly three years in Vietnam. The new move puts an Army man in charge of Marine units for the first time in the war and injects an Army headquarters in territory that until now had been solely under Marine command. Ross's command will be in charge of running the looming battle of Khe Sanh and—should they develop—in Hue and along the demilitarized zone.

Ross has under him the 3rd Marine Division and nearly two full Army divisions.

Westmoreland now has a force of 510,000 men and 15,000 more have been authorized for the next few months.

Ross's command has 70,000 U.S. troops plus South Vietnam's 1st Army Division and 2,500 South Vietnamese militiamen. The enemy strength in the area is roughly 80,000 men, according to U.S. calculations.

More than 1,500 persons representing many of South Vietnam's religious and political groups gathered in a movie house to hear demands for stern austerity measures including food rationing.

The platform of the convention warned that inability to unite and deal effectively with the Communist challenge would "spell doom for our nation."

Although it includes both anti and pro-government elements, the Front has government backing. Many of its organizers are closely linked to Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

The platform of the Front is stronger than any pronouncements of the government. Informed sources said convention organizers had a go-ahead from President Nguyen Van Thieu to push for strong reforms.

Nations Back US Gold Price In Effort to Halt Speculation

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Nations supporting U.S. efforts to halt the drain on its gold stocks announced Sunday night they will continue to support the price at $35 an ounce.

The announcement was made in an unusual statement by the Bank for International Settlements—BIS—here.

William McChesney Martin

Jr., chairman of the U.S. Federal Reserve Board, told reporters, beaming: "I am very satisfied with the result."

The hope was that the announcement would halt the rush of speculation on European gold markets. The speculators, gambling that the price would be raised, have cost the dwindling American gold reserves an estimated $180 million this month.

The statement was issued after a weekend of private meetings of heads of central banks. Usually they carefully avoid any statements after their monthly talks because of fear markets may take fright.

This time, faced with the danger of increased speculation when the gold markets reopen Monday morning, they issued a brief communique saying:

Seek Civil Rights Passage Without Floor Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic leaders looking ahead to Senate passage of the civil rights bill are hoping to get it passed by the House without any changes.

They particularly want to avoid another fight over the open housing feature in the bill, which plunged the House into prolonged controversy two years ago.

If their strategy succeeds, House passage would send the bill to the White House, making a conference with the Senate unnecessary and avoiding the threat that a compromise measure would be caught up in another Senate filibuster.

The Senate has its bill ready for a final vote and is expected to pass it Monday after more than seven weeks of debate.

Under present plans when it gets to the House it will be sent to the Rules Committee where a resolution would be sought making it in order for the House to adopt the Senate version.

Such a resolution could not be amended, giving the House only the choice of accepting or rejecting the entire civil rights package.

Besides outlawing discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, the Senate bill bans using force or threats to interfere with anyone exercising his constitutional rights; makes it a crime to cross state lines with the intent of inciting a riot or to teach how to make and use firearms and explosives in riots; and extends Bill of Rights guarantees to American Indians.

Nearly all the major provisions in the Senate bill have been approved in one form or another by the House, although it was a previous Congress that acted on open housing.

At that time the House narrowly approved a much more limited open housing provision than the one in the Senate bill. Where the Senate bill is estimated to cover about 70 per cent of the nation's housing units when it becomes fully operative in 1970, the House version covered only 40 per cent. The 1966 bill died in the Senate.

The key to success of the House leadership's plans is the position House Republicans take on the open housing question.

"During the course of the regular meeting at the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, the governors of the central banks of Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom and United States exchanged views on recent developments in the international monetary situation."

"The central banks contributing to the London gold pool reaffirm their determination to continue their support to the pool, based on the fixed price of $35 per ounce of gold."

Of the countries named, France stopped its contributions to the gold pool last June. Sweden has never contributed to the London pool, which stabilizes the price. The United States now is responsible for supplying 59 per cent of the gold marketed through the pool.

Sir Leslie O'Brien, governor of the Bank of England, told newsmen: "We are very pleased and hope that the world will be, too."

Asked whether he thought the announcement would do the trick, O'Brien replied: "Yes, I do."

Both Martin and O'Brien declined any further comment, saying it would be against the rules of BIS.

Prisoners Release 4 Hostages After Night of Rioting in Ore.

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Rioting prisoners released four hostages unharmed and finally gave up control of the smoldering Oregon State Penitentiary Sunday.

Guards moved into the cell blocks and established control over the prison about 10:15 a.m., 18 hours after the convicts went on a rampage that caused an estimated $2 million damage.

The hostages were released three hours earlier after long negotiations between six spokesmen for the inmates and George T. Randall, the state corrections administrator.

Officials said 90 per cent of the wooden structures were destroyed. Cellblocks C and D were reported uninhabitable.

Randall, other state officials and three reporters conferred with prisoners in a laundry room in a no-man's land before the hostages were released.

The convicts were assured there would be no reprisals for the rioting.

The laundry room overlooks the baseball field, where about 400 prisoners huddled under blankets and around bonfires.

No guards were in sight. Randall spoke first and a prisoner, Richard Dormack, shouted back through a bullhorn megaphone, asking about a prime grievance—getting a new warden.

Randall replied that Warden W.T. Gladden, 73, ill with pneumonia and sciatica, had resigned.

The prisoners cheered. The four hostages did not appear harmed. One said he had never feared for his life and had been treated well. He seemed calm.

Even as Randall and the inmates talked, another fire broke out in the main cellblock, already heavily damaged by fire.

With Randall as he talked with the prisoners were Ed Westerdahl, an assistant to Gov. Tom McCall; Secretary of State Clay Myers, and three reporters, including Ann Sullivan of the Oregonian in Portland.

Mrs. Sullivan asked the men to release the hostages, saying the prisoners had public sympathy now but would lose it if the guards were harmed.

Earlier Sunday the inmates listed their demands:

—A new warden and administration.

—Improved medical treatment.

—An inmate council to take grievances to the Board of Corrections.

—A better prison store.

—Less forced savings from their pay for prison jobs.

—Better food in maximum security units.

—Extended work-release program.

While the grievances were given to Randall, some 250 or 300 police officers from all over western Oregon waited outside prison walls. Some were members of special riot squads, armed with shotguns.

The rioting prisoners took control of the penitentiary at 4:15 p.m. Saturday, suddenly seizing the prison control center as they were returning to cell blocks from the recreation yard.

About 40 guards and employees were in areas controlled by the rampaging convicts. But by 7 p.m. all but five or six had managed to escape or had been set free.

Chautauqua Institution Offers

Reading Improvement Program

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y.—Chautauqua Institution announces that under the auspices of the Syracuse University Reading and Language Arts Center, the seventh annual reading improvement program for senior high school students (grades 10 through 12) will again be offered during the 1968 season.

The six week program is designed as a developmental program to help strengthen reading and study skills necessary to cope effectively with the high school and college levels. The program is not appropriate for young people who are slow learners occasioned by below average ability or severe emotional disturbances.

The program will again be under the direct supervision of Edwin Draper, a professional educator, who has been a public school teacher and, for some years, was a member of the Syracuse Reading Center staff. He is currently a school principal.

Students enrolling in the program who are not able to live with parents or relatives on Chautauqua grounds or within commuting distance, will live in supervised dormitory housing made available through Chautauqua Institution.

Enrollment is limited and advance application for acceptance is necessary.

For more information, write to Joseph C. Clarke, Vice President, Education, Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N.Y. 14722.

Debate Team Takes First

Place Honors

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown High School's debate team took first place honors Saturday in a regional debate tournament held in Buffalo, N.Y. The local team returned home with a perfect record of 6 wins and no losses.

The affirmative team composed of Arvid Roach and Fred Larson took first place in that classification while the team of John Swanson and Suzanne Sandmeyer bested all other teams taking the negative position. In addition Miss Sandmeyer won first place honors as the best speaker taking the negative position.

The win in the Buffalo tournament insures Jamestown's debaters a place in the New York State tournament to be held later this month. Other JHS students who qualified for the state tournament were James Westman for extemporaneous speaking and Steven Seaberg for dramatic interpretation.

Next Saturday the debate team will compete in the district tournament at Oswego. A win in the Oswego or the state tournament will insure the JHS debaters of a chance to participate in the national tournament later this year.

Man Shoots Wife In Sicilian Church

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — A man shot and critically wounded his wife as she prayed at a Roman Catholic Mass Sunday, then raced out of the church and killed her presumed lover, police said.

Francesco Cusumano, 33, hit his wife Giacomina, 25, with four pistol shots that caused panic in St. Ann's parish church. Leaving her for dead, the husband went looking for Luciano Fiore, 25, whom he suspected of having an affair with his wife, police said, adding that he found Fiore in a nearby street and killed him with two shots.

Cusumano then surrendered at police headquarters. His wife was rushed to a hospital in critical condition.

State Police Will Recruit Here Thursday

As part of a state-wide recruitment program, Lt. Salvatore Rodriguez, Troop E-1 Erie, will be in Warren on Thursday, March 14, from noon until 7 p.m. at the Armory on Hickory street to talk with qualified young men interested in a rewarding career.

Those accepted as cadets will receive $212 bi-monthly while in training at the PSP Academy in Hershey, the new salary increase effective July 1, with starting salary upon graduation set at $6,736 a year.

Applications must be citizens of the United States, 21 years old or not have reached their 30th birthday prior to appointment, have a valid Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Operators license, excellent physical condition, 20/40 vision, each eye, uncorrected, 5 feet 8 inches to 6 feet five inches in height, 145 to 215 pounds weight in proportion to height, a high school graduate or its equivalent as certified by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and preferably in the upper three-fifths of his graduating class.

Duties as a state policeman are varied and interesting. Some of the many facets of police work include laboratory division, general traffic, criminal investigation, Turnpike division, safety education youth aid and vice-intelligence.

Civil service examinations will be conducted for Pennsylvania State Police Cadets on March 30, June 29, Sept. 28, and December 14.

Cadet classes at the Academy will begin March 28, August 15 and November 7, 1968.

University of Pittsburgh, was found Saturday floating on a life preserver five miles off Meigs Field, Chicago's Lakefront Airport.

The coast guard had a sea-plane, two search-and-rescue craft and the cutter "Woodbine" at the site of dragging operations Sunday. A helicopter and fire boat from the fire department also were aiding in the search.

Although a Federal Aviation Agency spokesman said Saturday night, "We are still not ruling out the possibility that there are survivors," a Coast Guard spokesman said it was unlikely human life could survive more than three hours in the near-freezing lake.

The two-engine plane vanished after asking permission to land at Meigs around 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Litchfield resigned as Pitt chancellor in 1965, after 11 years of expansion, improvement and ultimate financial crisis at the university.

The school was $19.5 million in the red when Litchfield suffered a heart attack and resigned. But the size of the faculty had been doubled, salaries were up and the school boasted 10 new centers and several new buildings.

Dr. David Kurtzman, presently state superintendent of schools, took over as acting chancellor and put the school into the black before Dr. Wesley W. Posvar took over last June.

Also aboard the plane were Litchfield's wife, Mary, 42; their sons, Edward, 11, and De Forest, 5; his mother, Ethel, 81, and the pilot, James Looker, 43, of Wellsville, N.Y.

Litchfield also was a board member of AYCO and was Gen. Lucius D. Clay's director of civil affairs for Europe after World War II.

Stove Overheats

Clarendon Volunteer Fire Dept. was called at 2:05 p.m. Sunday when an oil stove overheated at a camp on Farnsworth rd. owned by Richard Nelson and occupied by Donald Fillagar. Two trucks and 13 men responded. They were on the scene approximately 35 minutes. According to Fire Chief Leonard Falbriski, there was no damage reported.

Over 20 Top Republicans Urge Rockefeller to Run

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans met with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in his Fifth Avenue apartment Sunday and urged him "very strongly" to plunge into the Republican presidential race.

"Gov. Rockefeller will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself," said a statement issued by the group, which included seven governors, three senators and five congressmen. Rockefeller himself was unavailable immediately after the closed-door meeting. He has said he will not be a candidate unless there is a draft.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the strategy session, said he urged Rockefeller to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

Nixon, who lives in the same building as Rockefeller, was in his apartment until an hour after the meeting started. Then he left for a final flying visit to New Hampshire before its first-in-the-nation primary on Tuesday.

Rockefeller called the meeting to discuss the state of the GOP since Gov. George Romney of Michigan withdrew from the race, leaving Nixon the sole major contender in New Hampshire.

Warren Native Is Co-Author

A native of Warren, Miss Faith N. Mong, daughter of Mrs. Grace Mong, 5 Locust st., Warren, has co-authored a research article just published in an internationally known scientific journal.

The article, published in the Journal of Parasitology and written in collaboration with L. S. Roberts, assistant professor of zoology at the University of Massachusetts, is based on a research project supported by a grant to Dr. Roberts from the National Institute of Health.

The research project concerns the physiological factors affecting the growth of tapeworms in the digestive systems of their hosts. Tapeworms of some kind are found as parasites in almost every type of vertebrate animal, including humans and domestic animals. When mature in the intestine of their hosts, tapeworms cause little damage, but juvenile stages can cause serious disease. Human afflictions with larval tapeworms are common in many parts of the world and knowledge gained through study of tapeworms may ultimately lead to greater understanding of host-parasite relationships in other infectious diseases.

Born in Warren, Miss Mong attended Warren Area High

Jarring's Effort to Break Arab-Israeli Deadlock Fails

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The effort of U.N. special envoy Gennar Jarring to break the deadlock between the Arabs and Israelis over peace talks apparently has collapsed because of Egypt's refusal to meet with Israeli officials under any circumstances, diplomatic informants said Sunday.

Jarring flew to Jerusalem and met for 90 minutes with Foreign Minister Abba Eban and informed him officially of the Egyptian rejection of direct or indirect peace talks with the Israelis, the sources said.

There were reports Jarring had hoped to bring negotiators together on Cyprus, the island in the eastern Mediterranean.

In Cairo the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said

Egyptian Foreign Ministry officials were contacting foreign diplomats to explain Egypt's reasons for turning down peace talks.

The newspaper said the officials, in meetings with the ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Britain, France, India, Spain, Italy and Pakistan, had placed the blame on Israel for the stalemate. Al Ahram added that the ambassadors were told Egypt rejected peace talks because the Israelis insist that the U.S. resolution on the Middle East in November was "merely an agenda for negotiations with the Arabs."

There was some anticipation in Cairo in official circles that a special session of the U.N. Security Council would be called to consider the breakdown in Jarring's mission.

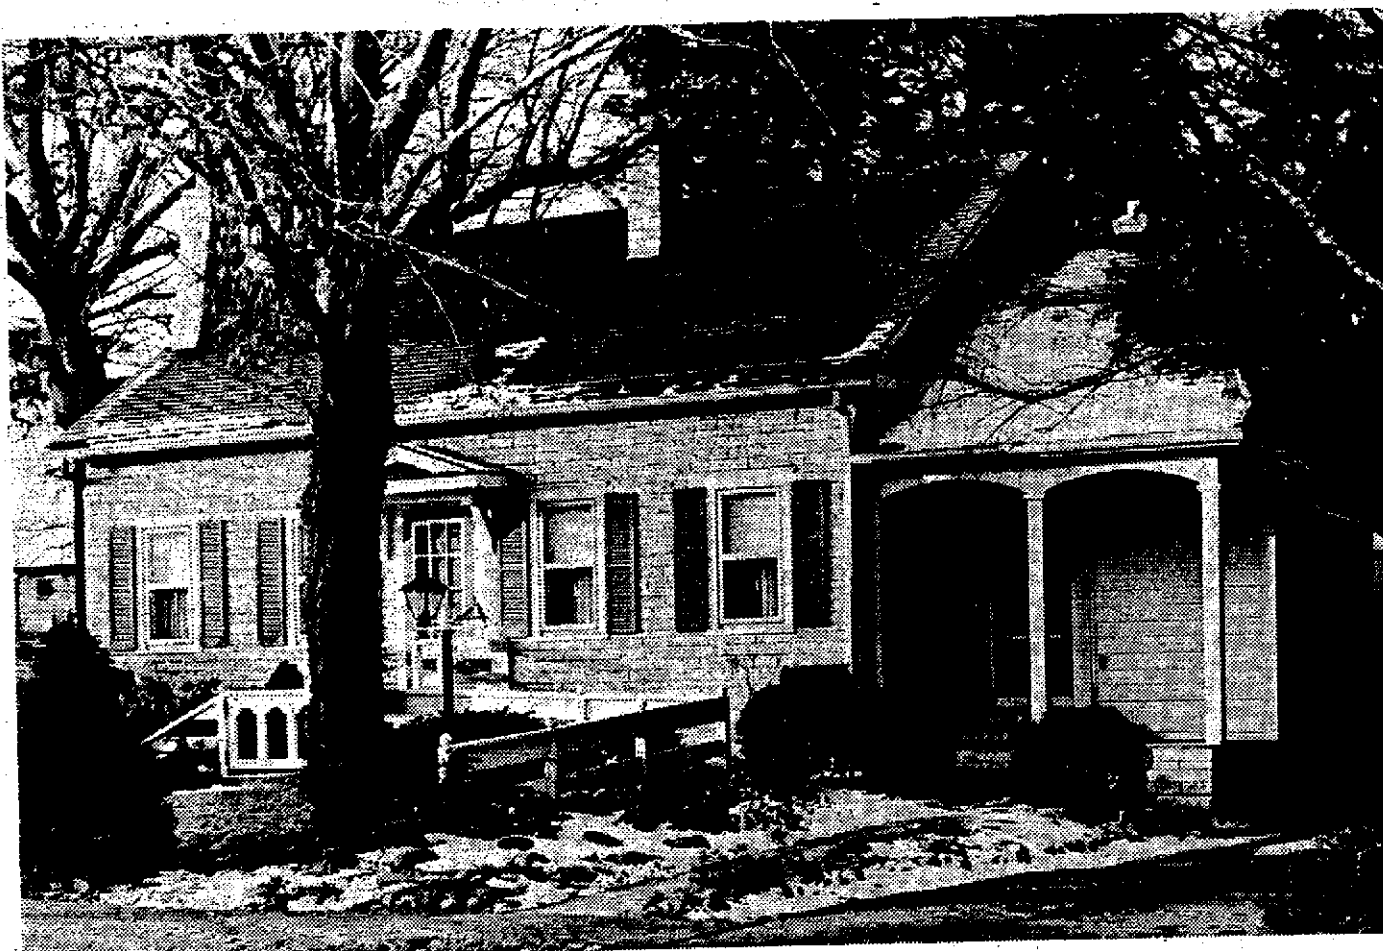

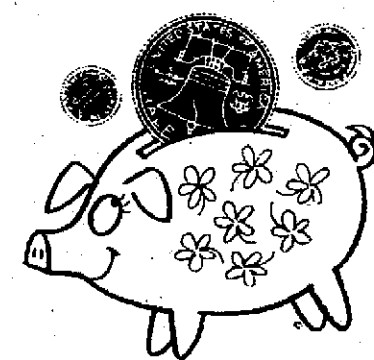

Diplomatic informants in Jerusalem said the Egyptians had reverted to a hard line: no peace talks until after the Israelis pull out of occupied Arab lands in Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

New Forest Supervisor

Hello, Ralph Freeman!
It's great to have you up in this part of the country. Especially since you have had such wide experience in another area where tourism and recreation is an important part of community development.

As the new supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest this experience should be of great benefit to the community, as well as ease the pressures you will be faced with in bringing the recreational potentials of the Kinzua Dam to fulfillment.

We know it's a big job that you have taken on, but you will find the folks in the Warren area behind you every inch of the way. We may be a little demanding at times, perhaps, but in the end we are always aware of what the Forest Service and the supervisors who preceded you have done to make this a better community in which to live.

As this is your first assignment north of the Mason-Dixon Line, you may find our winters a little rigorous. But then you have the next eight or nine months to get acclimated. And, besides, they aren't so hard to endure if you just think ahead to the beautiful summers we have up in this neck of the woods.

In fact, we are quite sure that you will grow to like Warren as much as you did Asheville, North Carolina. And better, we hope, than you did Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas. No black-eyed peas or grits up here, but a lot of other wonderfully tasty dishes and some wonderful folks to share them with.

So, Ralph, we extend a welcome to you on your first day on your new job. May the days on that job be many, and enjoyable.

I Had To Smile

Grandma Flynn always complained about Katie. It wasn't one thing, it was another. She used to hold her thumb against the tip of her finger and say: "There isn't a pick on that child." Katie was skinny. She could turn completely around inside a dress without ripping it. Grandma said Katie laughed too much. "Laugh before breakfast and you'll cry before dinner," Grandma said.

The Flynn's people had tenements like everybody else. They walked the dark halls to the fifth floor and got into the flat by way of the kitchen. Nobody had any money. The old lady was on relief. She had arthritis so bad she walked like smoke coming out of a chimney. She wore a brown shawl and the face inside it looked like a busted fist.

The Goldbergs used to send a small piece of corned beef across the dark hall. That's what Grandma Flynn was rich in—the Goldbergs. The old lady and Mrs. Goldberg were cronies. They talked to each other all day across open dumb-waiters. Mrs. Goldberg had a good man. He was manager of the Stillbitt Men's Wear store. He brought home $60 every week and it went right down the drain.

Any part of it Mrs. Goldberg didn't use, she gave away. Mrs. Goldberg was a stout woman with a bosom; a real crier. She had boys. Norman was tall and he studied law. His father said he could talk like a prophet. Barry was fat and 14. After dinner, he read books and ate fruit.

The gossip on the street was fresher than the bread, but somebody goofed on Norman and Katie. He took her to the movies. She gave him a watch for his birthday. Dollar a week for two years. Suddenly, they were engaged and the whole neighborhood took sides.

Some felt like Mr. Goldberg, that Norman should have picked a Jewish girl. Some felt like Grandma, that if you are carelessly exposed to love, you will fall in love. The Flynn's were good Catholics. The old lady was a daily communicant. She even nabbed the pastor for a couple of bucks a week.

It was a bad situation for awhile. In Herlihy's Shamrock Inn, they had fistfights over it. Then Norman got an A-1 draft classification, and he asked Katie to wait for him. She was 18, and, except for the soup plate blue eyes, she looked 12. There still wasn't a pick on her.

Norman went off to World War II. He was one of 14,000,000. Katie stopped laughing the day he went. She ran off to church and knelt under the statue of the Sacred Heart and she made a vow: "Bring him back alive for me, and I'll say the Stations of the Cross everyday for five years. Every day rain or shine. And, dear God, you know I don't like to say the Stations."

She was 22 when he came back. It was summer and old man Goldberg put on a feast in the street. Right down in the street. They had tables and wine and the rabbi came and the Irish ate the Jewish pickles and Mrs. Goldberg was sweating and McDermott wheeled out a piano and everybody had a time. Katie kept looking at Norman as though she wanted to cry.

They set the date. Norman was killed a week later. Fell off a platform in front of a commuter train. Mrs. Goldberg could be heard for days, moaning and crying.

They say Katie never cried. She went to the services dry-eyed. Old man Goldberg began to feel sorry for her. He even put his arm around her and said: "For you, little girl, it can be a better world." But it wasn't. Katie began to go to church and say the Stations of the Cross. People who knew the story used to bust out laughing.

She was the only one who didn't know that God had double-crossed her. He brought her guy home, fulfilling the con-

The Doomsday Yawn

WASHINGTON — The world was coming to an end. There could be no doubting it. President Johnson had announced it on television, and Walter Sullivan had confirmed it in The New York Times. Something to do with hyperactive ions concentrated in the horse latitudes, or magnetic pollution, or something equally unfathomable by the lay mind.

It didn't really matter why. One had never understood how the telephone worked either, but it did most of the time, unfortunately. The p a p e r s naturally played it big. "Natural catastrophe due at 10:17 a.m. tomorrow," said the headlines.

All three television networks suspended regular programming to bring the public live coverage of the event, but this unusual break with routine was an exception to the general calm that prevailed in the final hours. For the most part, everyone continued to behave predictably.

George Wallace, for example, accused "the pseudo-intellectuals" of causing the end of the world and said that the forthcoming disaster would constitute final proof of their perfidy. Walt W. Rostow, the President's foreign policy adviser, said that the end of the world meant that the enemy in Vietnam was about to draw its "last gasp" and that Communism had been stopped once and for all.

Richard Nixon said that, except for President Johnson's blundering lack of foresight, the United States could have built enough lunar orbiting capsules to place 40,000 Americans in the safety of permanent orbit around the moon where the principles of free enterprise might have been perpetuated for eventual transplant to other planets.

Nelson Rockefeller announced a fourteen-point plan to lend the human race enough money to erect a new planet on the site of the old earth. Barry Goldwater said he could not in good conscience support any plant built by Rockefeller.

But their wives said, "You know I can't tomorrow. The decorator's coming and I've got to get to the supermarket steak sale before all the good cuts are gone."

The credibility gap was too wide to be closed. Practically nobody believed the world would end. It would end, of course. In fact, it may have already, a long time ago. If you stick your head out of the rut every now and then, there is distinct evidence of ruins all around.

tract, and then snatched him away. It made no difference to Katie. Winter, summer, bitter cold nights and steamy mornings, she went to church. She even made it that day the hurricane hit town. She did the five years, and more—for Norman.

It's been a long time. I went back. The whole neighborhood is gone. The tenements have been replaced by a "development." The Flynn's and the McDermotts are dead. Mrs. Goldberg died of pneumonia. Barry is married and living somewhere.

I pushed the bell marked Goldberg. The buzzer sounded. I went upstairs in the elevator and stood in front of 343. The door opened. Deep in the room, I could see old man Goldberg. He has lived in a wheelchair since the stroke. The middle-aged housekeeper had white hair. I had to smile. She still didn't have a pick on her. . .

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—A rhabarbar involving one of Pennsylvania's most famous letter-writers since Ben Franklin is about to erupt on Capitol Hill, with indications it may well reach the highest circles of the present administration.

As this article is being penned, there as yet has been no announcement, but a Harrisburg public relations man, William Keisling, was hired as long ago as last November by the Department of Justice to publicize the state's consumer protection plan. His pay: a minimum of $3500 a month and maximum of $75,000 a year.

The schedule of fees and charges included payment as high as $50 per hour for writing speeches and the same amount for "creative planning." For "counseling and consultation" there is a mere fee of $40 per hour and $35 for "motion picture script and/or direction." If you would like an item listed as "clerical and clerical production" it's there for the bargain rate of $8 per hour.

For the aid of those who haven't had the benefit of new math, $50 per hour works out to $400 per eight-hour day or $2000 for a five-day week. The "clerical" service would come to $64 per day or $320 per week, based on the usual working week.

Mr. Keisling was former Governor Scranton's chief publicity aide at one time. During the 1964 Republican Convention he wrote a now somewhat famous letter excoriating Barry Goldwater. The letter was released over Mr. Scranton's name but the letter was so "testy" it backfired and helped Mr. Goldwater win the nomination, in the opinion of many.

The reason the current rhabar may well reach into high places is because of the interesting signatures on the contract.

It was signed by Attorney General William C. Sennett, Budget Secretary Arthur Sampson and by Governor Shafer himself. Curiously, Mr. Sampson's name had the date of "11/15" next to the signature—but no year.

Quite apart from the size of the contract, the chief question arises as to why it was kept a secret—indeed, may still be a secret until this column hits the press.

How can a publicist do his job in secrecy? The very occupation requires that the work be known to the public. And, as far as we have seen, there has been no publicity blurb on the consumer protection program that looked like the work of a $50 per hour publicist.

The contract also provides for the future services of a firm to be known as Keisling, Speaker and Associates, Inc. At the date this contract was signed, no such firm was incorporated.

The agreement also made Mr. Keisling the "sole and exclusive public information, public relations and advertising agent in the field of consumer protection." Yet just last month, the department hired Paul Zdnak as public relations director at $13,979 per year. Mr. Zdnak, a former Associated Press reporter, is widely respected by Harrisburg newsmen and there is no reason to believe he could not somewhat more than adequately handle the job for the Department of Justice.

There are some legal questions about the agreement. First, it gives Mr. Keisling the right to "assign" the contract to another firm. And secondly it binds the Commonwealth to pay Keisling in advance in the amount of $2000 per month. The advance billing already has taken place, starting in December.

Another unusual part of the agreement is it continues in effect until one party or the other decides to terminate it in written notice at least 30 days prior to the anniversary date of the contract.

Since that date is either November 15—or perhaps December 1—it could well be that the administration following Governor Shafer's would be bound by its provisions for a full year after it goes into office.

Another interesting part of the contract is that it provides certain payments outside of the figures set forth in other parts of the contract. In addition, Mr. Keisling will receive 17.85 per cent of all amounts spent on advertisement insertions.

And still other "separate and distinct" fees will be paid for any motion pictures that are made under the agreement. The "what next" department has the podium.

LBJ Seems Strangely Cool

WASHINGTON—It's ironic that the President, who has done more for race relations than any President since Abraham Lincoln, is not enthusiastic over the penetrating report of his own commission on race relations.

Having picked a blue ribbon panel of ten dedicated men and one woman, who spent seven months studying last summer's race riots, President Johnson let a whole week go by before giving a guarded comment on their report. Meanwhile, his Vice President had differed with it, his Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Weaver, a Negro, who should have been delighted with it, said its housing goal was "highly improbable," and newsmen who take their cues from the White House were blasting it as likely to increase race riots.

Reason for this dousing of lukewarm water over the most courageous government report in the last decade was the war in Vietnam plus Congress. Money cannot go to the Vietnam war and the race war at the same time.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas tax czar who reigns supreme over the Ways and Means Committee, has given the President an ultimatum—in which the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition has joined like a Roman phalanx—that there will be no tax increase until domestic spending is drastically cut.

Completely ignoring this, the President was a little startled when his own carefully selected commission on racial disorder came out with a dire warning that we will have to spend about as much at home as we are in Vietnam or else experience guerrilla fighting here as well as in Saigon, and end up another South Africa, divided, separate and unequal.

Furthermore, the makeup of the commission, ranging from the Democratic governor of Illinois, Otto Kerner, to the liberal Republican mayor of New York, John Lindsay, to a Southern police chief, Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta, makes the warning impossible to ignore.

The report was unanimous. However, the three above mentioned members were among the strongest in giving forthright no-holds-barred warning to the nation. Police Chief Jenkins of Atlanta was just as vigorous as the mayor of the nation's biggest city. So was Sen. Fred Harris, a moderate Democrat for Oklahoma, a Southwest state with a big Negro population.

Significantly, the commission member who paid least attention to the deliberations, and had an inexcusable attendance record, was the first Negro to be elected to the Senate in 100 years—Edward Brooke, the Massachusetts Republican. He concurred with the findings, but was not around much to draft them.

Another who had a spotty attendance record was L. W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers, but he was also a delegate to the United Nations in New York, and had a hard time attending both. He was somewhat conservative about the report, due no doubt to the Slav and Italian steelworkers in Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Gary, who are anti-Negro. However, he went along with the report.

The only real holdout—though he also signed—was Charles B. Thornton, an old Texas friend of LBJ's. It was significant that the first cold water poured on the report came from another Texan, the President's good friend, Rep. George Mahon, of Lubbock, Tex., who also is worried about cutting domestic spending in order to meet Wilbur Mills's ultimatum and get a tax increase.

Thornton, as head of the far-flung Litton Industries, had a somewhat embarrassing conflict between money for war and money for big cities. He is chairman of an industrial complex which includes Aero Service, Airtrol Inc., Clifton Precision, Ingalls Shipbuilding, Kester Solder Co., Kimball Systems, Litton Precision Products, Monroe Calculating Machine, and Proterray. He even has a contract with the military dictatorship of Greece to bring industry to Greece on a 10 per cent commission basis.

Litton's industrial complex drew down $180,000,000 from the taxpayers in defense contracts during fiscal 1967, plus another $13,396,000 in research grants.

Although voicing objections during the commission sessions, Thornton finally went along with its vigorous warning to the nation. Since publication, however, he's been talking to friends privately, including his friend LBJ.

The position of the President is that you can't push Congress too hard and too suddenly. He's having enough trouble with his present program. "If you're going to drink whiskey," he says, "drink a little at a time and you can drink all night. If you drink the whole bottle right away you'll throw it up."

It's the same way with Congress, says the President, who served there a quarter of a century. "You've got to feed them legislation in easy doses."

Another Month on Capitol Hill

By WILLIAM W. ALLEN

We are now back in session in Harrisburg and will probably be returning to the State Capitol each week well into the summer months with the exception of one or two weeks at Primary Election time.

In the 65th District of Forest-Warren Counties we have many interests that effect our economy and welfare.

In this report I will endeavor to cover the progress being made in some fields—others will be discussed in future reports.

House Bill 1867, Printers Number 2317 relating to Nursing Homes and similar facilities and feared by many (judged by the volume of mail I received) would have adverse effects on church operated homes for the aged throughout the State. I am in agreement as to the effect this bill would have had if passed, and have spent many hours in discussion of it. I am now pleased to report that this bill will be recommitted to committee and in all probability disappear completely.

The Sheffield Museum Project is creating considerable interest through the Sheffield, Kane, Warren and Tioga area and seems to be moving into high gear through the concentrated efforts of many people and the recent visit of William N. Richards, Pennsylvania Director of Museums, to our District. We should all be interested and supportive of this project of Lumbering and Railroad Industry that has added so much to our heritage of the past, present and even the future. I can add much to our pleasure and economy and for the generations to come.

As mentioned in my last report I had been appointed to the Game and Fisheries Committee. Realizing the impact to the economy of our 65th District of sports and recreations I felt it necessary to call a meeting of the experts in the field. A meeting at Tioga Headquarters was attended by Fish and Game Wardens and Supervisors of Forest-Warren Counties and Department Heads from the Franklin District office. From this meeting and discussions with sports writers and others interested in this field I feel to have gained much valuable information to intelligently and beneficially serve on this committee.

Agriculture plays an important role in the economy of our two counties and must not be overlooked. As I travel over the counties I find it to be evident that farming adds greatly to our society and covers many different types, such as, Dairy, Potatoes, Milk or Fur, Tree, Poultry, Bee, Maple Sugar, other specialized and general types. I have had the privilege to attend meetings and meet with individuals of Agriculture Extension Service, Pennsylvania Farmers Association, Grange Annual Legislative Meeting and others to discuss their Policies and Programs.

I have found it necessary in order to properly represent my District I must return to Harrisburg each week for meetings and research even though the House is not in session and I have been doing this regularly since being sworn in on November 20, 1967.

My thought in closing this report:

If you have something to say about your State Government write directly to Headquarters. It's your Headquarters, your State Capitol, so make the most of it. Put your opinion in the hands of the Public Official who represents you. After all it is my job to hear you out. But unless I know what you are thinking, I can't turn your thoughts into action. So if you have ever wondered how to influence your government, stop wondering, and start writing or calling.

If, as your Representative hear from you I can assure you that you will hear from me.

Surge In Speculation

How would you like to put your money into 30,000 pounds of butter, or 100,000 gallons of propane, or 30,000 pounds of pork bellies? How do you like this contrasted to investing in, say, American Telephone or U.S. bonds or a savings certificate?

What's your reaction, the fact is that tens of thousands of Americans now are sinking tens of billions of dollars into a wide range of commodity futures, and some of these speculators are reaping enormous profits. Not only are old-time professional speculators trading in commodities ranging from palladium to potatoes. In addition, amateurs, including school teachers, doctors, housewives, retirees, are jumping into a market once reserved for the sophisticated specialist. To document this:

The value of all commodities traded on the nation's 10 major commodity exchanges soared from $40.8 billion in fiscal 1962-63 to $94 billion in fiscal 1966-67. A total of 3.5 million commodity futures contracts were traded last year, more than double 1957's 4.1 million.

The trading surge has become frenzied for such products as platinum, palladium, frozen orange juice, silver and pork bellies in recent months.

What accounts for this ballooning new interest in commodities? How are commodities traded, and should you be among the traders? In this and two following columns, you'll find answers to these and other questions, obtained from experts in the commodity division of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the world's largest stock brokerage firm.

First, the background for the speculation:

The speculative surge in precious metals such as platinum, palladium and silver is a result of last year's devaluation of the British pound, climbing world demand for silver, and fears of inflation in the U.S.

The speculative surge in foods, such as sugar, wheat and soybeans, is being fueled by the rapid growth in world population, coupled with massive crop failures in recent years in Russia, China and India. In the U.S. crop surpluses have been drastically reduced for most products; the reductions have made prices more directly responsive to the forces of supply and demand; this, in turn, has widened commodity price fluctuations and drawn more speculators into the market.

Underlying both reasons and adding to them is the introduction of new, glamorous commodities to the market: i.e., palladium, mercury, propane gas, frozen organa juice.

As for how commodities are traded, let's say you want to buy a frozen orange juice contract, or 15,000 pounds of juice, recently valued at about $7,500 for delivery to you in July. In the words of one Merrill Lynch specialist in commodities: "It's like going into a Chevrolet agency and ordering a 1969 sedan months in advance, to be delivered to you when the new models hit the market next fall."

As you might with the Chevrolet, you put down only a small "deposit" on your orange juice contract, $900. As July approaches you have two choices: to take delivery of the juice, pay for it, and pay storage charges at a warehouse. Or, more likely, you will sell your orange juice contract before the stated delivery date to another buyer. You will receive the price at which orange juice futures are then selling. It may be more or less than the $7,000 you originally agreed to pay.

Tomorrow: rules on who should speculate in commodities.

McCarthy Tests Challenge To LBJ at Polls Tuesday

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy tests his challenge to President Johnson at the polls for the first time Tuesday, while Richard M. Nixon urges New Hampshire Republicans to give him a landslide sendoff in his quest for the GOP presidential nomination.

A late campaign McCarthy rally, stirred concern in the Democratic organization, promoting write-in votes for Johnson in the nation's opening presidential primary.

Nixon's Republican forces were worried primarily about the GOP turnout, fearing the lack of a real contest could hold down the GOP vote.

The former vice president programmed a Sunday night reception in Nashua, and a Monday round of visits to five city campaign headquarters, all aimed at turning out the voters.

McCarthy was appearing at receptions, too, three of them on Sunday. "I think my efforts and yours are beginning to show results," the Minnesota senator told Manchester campaign workers. The audience was heavily sprinkled with the corps of Eastern college students who have come to New Hampshire to aid the McCarthy cause. The students provided manpower for a door-to-door canvass in Democratic areas.

It was a radio advertisement for Johnson's cause that helped fuel McCarthy's drive in the final days of the campaign. "The Communists in Vietnam are watching the New Hampshire primary," the ad said. "Don't vote for fuzzy thinking and surrender."

McCarthy termed that—and the contention of Democratic Gov. John W. King that "Ho Chi Minh and his Communist friends" were vitally interested in the primary—samples of tactics like those used by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R. Wis.

The result was a division in the pro-Johnson forces and a word of defense for McCarthy from Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D.N.H., co-chairman with the governor of the Johnson write-in drive, disavowed the King assault as "a very great injustice" to McCarthy.

Kennedy said Saturday that "the same kind of charges were made against President Kennedy and the present charges are as baseless now as those were then."

Johnson's write-in is virtually certain to exceed McCarthy's vote in New Hampshire, but King, who once forecast margins of about 10 to 1, now is talking of a 3 to 1 edge. Others in the Democratic organization have said McCarthy could get 40 per cent of the vote.

While Nixon is the only major candidate among nine names on the GOP preferential ballot, there is a write-in campaign for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. It calls itself "The Committee For 15,000 Write-In Votes For Rockefeller."

Republicans are expected to cast 85,000 to 90,000 votes, Democrats between 40,000 and 45,000, perhaps more if large numbers of independents should choose to vote in that primary.

He says he is devoted to the nonviolence policies developed by Mahatma Gandhi.

Looking weak and drawn, Chavez sat slumped in a chair. His weight had dropped from 175 to 140 pounds.

Chavez to date has won signed contracts with 11 large growers in the area. These boosted the wage scale from $1.20 to 1.80 an hour and increased piece work rates.

Move to Oust Novotny Is Gathering Support

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new reform leaders were reported receiving support Sunday from Communist units countrywide for their drive to oust old-line Communist President Antonin Novotny.

Resolutions of district party committees, meeting for the past two days to consider the defection of Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna to the United States, were expected to start pouring into the Prague headquarters of the new party chief, Alexander Dubcek.

The important Prague district and other groups already had called for an emergency full session of the party's Central Committee.

The defection last Wednesday of Sejna, believed to be the highest ranking East European military figure to desert to the West, caused a major scandal and strengthened the hand of Dubcek and his followers, who want to liberalize the government.

Sejna is accused of masterminding a profiteering deal, and implication of Novotny and his orthodox supporters in the case has brought public pressure for him to resign, including two open letters Friday from groups within the Czech army general staff.

Czechoslovakia's constitution does not provide for impeachment of the president, so technically it was left up to Novotny whether to step down from the post he retained after being deposed two months ago as party chairman.

Adding flavor to the debate concerning Sejna and the old guard men around Novotny was an announcement that the Central Committee would consider a probe into the 1952 Stalinist show trials of former party Secretary General Rudolf Slansky and other key figures.

Eleven persons were hanged in the main trial and many others died in connected purges while an estimated 40,000 were jailed or otherwise persecuted.

Urged to Keep Cool In Wake of Slaying

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Knoxville residents were urged Sunday to "keep their cool" in the wake of the slaying of a white taxi cab driver and the burning of his cab.

A. J. Boruff, 24, was found shot to death early Saturday on the campus of predominantly Negro Knoxville College. His burned-out cab was discovered 75 yards from a women's dormitory.

Dr. W. T. Crutcher, pastor of Mount Olive Baptist Church and a long-time leader in the city's civil rights movement, told his congregation at the morning worship service:

"We cannot let what happened destroy the progress we have made in human relations."

The Knoxville News-Sentinel made much the same plea in a page one editorial in its Sunday edition.

Police said there were no reports of any racial incidents overnight.

Meanwhile, police said they had turned up no new leads in their investigation into the slaying of Boruff, who died of a small caliber pistol bullet wound in the chest.

Polish Students Are Convicted Of Hooliganism

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A number of students have been convicted in quick trials on charges of hooliganism during clashes with police and given jail sentences of four to six months, informed sources said Sunday.

At least 10 and possibly as many as 50 were tried Saturday, the sources said, even while other students and youths were battling with police for the second straight day in the Polish capital.

Some of the charges involved shouting "Gestapo," and "Fascists!" at truncheon-wielding riot police.

Officials were not available to confirm or deny this. Other officials declined to give the number of arrests during Friday's and Saturday's clashes. Estimates range from 150 to 400 arrests.

The disturbances were believed to be the worst in Communist Poland since demonstrations after the 1957 closing of a popular liberal student magazine.

Sunday was calm in Warsaw, but there was increased patrolling by police vehicles.

There was no word if demonstrations had spread to other Polish universities, but students from the cities of Lodz, Wroclaw and Krakow were said to be traveling to Warsaw to participate in the action in the capital.

There was no word if demonstrations had spread to other Polish universities, but students from the cities of Lodz, Wroclaw and Krakow were said to be traveling to Warsaw to participate in the action in the capital.

Some of the charges involved shouting "Gestapo," and "Fascists!" at truncheon-wielding riot police.

Officials were not available to confirm or deny this. Other officials declined to give the number of arrests during Friday's and Saturday's clashes. Estimates range from 150 to 400 arrests.

The disturbances were believed to be the worst in Communist Poland since demonstrations after the 1957 closing of a popular liberal student magazine.

Sunday was calm in Warsaw, but there was increased patrolling by police vehicles.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY this coming Sunday will see another dinner served in honor of the Irish Saint, who really wasn't Irish at all, but is credited with converting Ireland from paganism to Christianity around the 5th Century, and, according to Irish legend, also drove the snakes out of the Emerald Isle. Anyhow, anyone who has even a drop of Irish blood in his veins has a fierce feeling of the pride of the Irish and of loyalty to Ireland's Patron Saint—And even if it isn't thought of all year, this is the one day it suddenly comes rushing to the surface! Others adopt the commemoration of St. Patrick's Day, because it is such a happy one, full of gaiety and fun. There just isn't anything sombre about it. Well, next Sunday, as I started out to say, this area's original annual St. Patrick's Day Dinner will once again take place at Holy Redeemer Church. Started many years ago by the East Side Parish, its popularity has steadily grown with the years. Sunday, March 17th, the Baked Ham Dinner will be served in the social hall of Holy Redeemer, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.; a Baked Ham Supper will be served from 4 to 6:30 p.m. Tickets are now on sale for the public: $1.50 adults, and children's tickets at 75 cents will be sold at the door.

"NOBODY WAVED GOODBYE" is the title of the film to be shown tonight at the annual Vocation Night at St. Joseph School Auditorium. For Warren's Catholic Youth in grades 9 to 12, the evening will begin at 7 o'clock. The theme this year is "Your Vocation As A Christian." The movie was made in Toronto and fused fiction-film technique with a documentary style. Peter Kastner is the star. Refreshments will be served at its conclusion.

MINIATURES: Jefferson School has already set its date for the annual Ice Cream Social—It's May 9th, from 3 to 8 p.m. The Pittsfield Home Extension Group meets on Tuesday, the 19th, at 10 a.m. in the Pittsfield Community Center. Mrs. Paul Nicklas is chairman. The women are still working with feathers—Bring a sack lunch. St. Luke's Altar Society of Youngsville meets tomorrow evening at 8 in the church social hall.

Barnes-Wallace Wedding Vows Exchanged In E. Springfield

Connie M. Barnes became the bride of Lawrence H. Wallace recently in the Federated Church at East Springfield, Penna. Two hundred guests were present for the double ring wedding service at which Dr. P. H. Augustine officiated. Mrs. Howard Glover was the organist, and Charles Howland sang "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Palms, mums and fern adorned the candlelit altar of the church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barnes of East Springfield, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Fanny Wallace of RD 1, Sugar Grove.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved white brocade satin gown with cathedral train extending from a bow at the back. It was fashioned by her cousin, Mrs. Carol Kulik of Albion, Penna. Her veil extended from

Cootiettes Meet

The Hayseed Cootiette Club held its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday evening at the V.F.W. 631 Post room. The meeting opened and closed with a prayer by Chaplain Kate Lingo.

Chairman Kate Lingo reported on a very successful rummage sale held last weekend. Hospital Chairman Mary Tellman reported on her present project, and outlined plans for the future regarding projects for the Veterans at Warren State Hospital.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 3, at which time plans will be completed regarding a joint installation of newly-elected officers with the Military Order of Cooties on April 21. A tureen dinner will follow the installation.

a pillbox with hand-rolled roses forming the crown. She carried a white prayer book with a white sweetheart rose corsage tied with streamers of lilacs-of-the-valley. The bride also carried a handkerchief of her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. J. Z. Loucks of Beaver Center, Penna., completing the tradition with "something new, and a sixpence in her shoe."

Wanda McCamman of Lake City, Penna., was the maid of honor in a gown identical to that of the bride, but in mint green satin with puffed sleeves, fashioned by the cousin of the bride. She carried an arm bouquet of tinted green carnations. The flower girls, Robin Elizabeth Barnes and Renee Lynn Barnes, nieces of the bride, also were in frocks of mint green and carried white flower baskets of rose petals. Elmer Wallace of Bradford was the best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Barnes, brother of the bride, of Uniontown, and Eugene Wilson, nephew of the groom, Sugar Grove.

The District Meeting for the Fraternal Order of Eagles Ladies Auxiliary will be held in Sharon on March 31st. Initiation will be held for new candidates, and it is necessary that all reservations be in no later than March 24. Send them to Izora Knapp, secretary.

President Ruby Cook presided at the meeting, and the March birthday dinner date was announced for tomorrow evening. It will be served in the Eagles' social room at 6 o'clock. Swiss Steak is to be the main course, and members are to bring turkeys. Mrs. Cook will prepare the steak.

A report on the Union smorgasbord of February 24 was given by Betty Pees, who thanked those who assisted. Mrs. Keith Barnes won the door prize.

Secret Sisters are to be remembered on St. Patrick's Day and at Easter, members were reminded. The officers will meet on March 18, and the next general meeting will take place on March 19.

St. Michael's Notes

Celebrant of the Choral Divine Liturgy of Sunday was the Rev. Dr. Alexander Dzerovych of St. Barbara Ukrainian Catholic Church, Vienna, Austria. The Women's Society of St. Michael will meet in the church pavilion Tuesday evening at 7:45. The Rosary of Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock will be offered for peace in the world.

The Rev. Athanasius Bekar, OSEM, a member of the Order of St. Basil the Great, of Uniontown, will conduct the Lenten RETREAT this Friday and Saturday, concluding it during the Sunday Choral Liturgy. The conferences will be held after the 7 o'clock evening devotions, followed by the Supplication of the Holy Eucharist.

Saturday marks the third All Souls Day of the Lenten period. The Commemorations of the Dead will be observed during the 7:30 a.m. Choral Liturgy.

PROTRUDING EARS

Q. What treatment would you advise for a baby girl with very large protruding ears? Will binding the ears back have any effect?

A. First, binding the ears back will have no effect whatever. Protruding ears can be helped by plastic surgery but surgery is usually delayed until after the age at which the ears cease to grow. Cessation of ear growth occurs at about age 8 or thereabouts.

LIVER PALMS

Q. I am employed as a practical nurse in a nursing home. Many of our elderly patients have a peculiar red to purple discoloration of the palms of the hands. Is this a sign of any special disease?

A. "Liver palms" are observed in some apparently normal people and seem to be an inherited trait. Palm discoloration may also occur in pregnancy and is sometimes associated with diseases such as arthritis. The condition is not unusual in elderly people and is largely due to senescent changes in the skin.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife works in an office and I work in a plant. We used to take the same bus to and from town and it worked out fine.

A few months ago Wilma's boss decided to stagger the quitting time so there wouldn't be a crush at 5 p.m. and now she takes an earlier bus. She is always home when I get there. Last night I left work 20 minutes early because I had a bad backache. When the bus stopped at Wilma's corner she boarded with a good looking, well-built guy. They seemed to be having a great time, laughing and joking. When Wilma saw me she got red in the face and introduced me. I recognized the plaid shirt he was wearing because I had ironed it.

Wilma has been bringing home this fellow's shirts for months—said they belonged to some orphan kid she wanted to help out. Wilma does all the washing in the family and I do the ironing because I was a presser in the Navy.

When we got home I got mad and told her I wasn't ironing any more of the "orphan's" shirts. She called me a jealous fool and acted highly insulted. What do you make of this?—MANNY

Dear Manny: Just when I think I've heard everything I get a letter like yours. This is indeed a new wrinkle—one that Wilma ought to iron out.

She sounds like a big-hearted girl, but I think in the interest of peace and tranquility the "orphan" should consider drip-dry shirts or carry his laundry to a commercial place.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A member of our family must take several pills before and after meals. This man is educated and refined. He insists that other members of the family adhere strictly to certain rules of etiquette, yet he brings his medicine to the table, limes up the bottles and makes a production of popping the pills into his mouth and swallowing several gulps of water to "wash things down."

Don't you feel that taking medicine is a personal matter and should be done in private? Why would a person want an audience? May we hear from you?—BELOW THE SALT

Dear B: A person who has to bring his medicine to the table and doctor himself in full view of the family is obviously desperate for attention. I feel sorry for him. And you should, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 15 years old and play the violin well. I practice six hours a day.

My Numero Uno also plays the violin well. He is two chairs ahead of me in the school orchestra. The problem is the girl who sits next to him. She doesn't practice nearly as much as I but she is a better violinist. I just burn when I see them sitting side by side... him turning the pages for her.

The music contest tryouts start soon. If I get an excellent and she gets a superior, I will die. Please tell me what to do. I'm cracking up.—MISS NERVOUS WRECK

Dear Miss: If you practice six hours a day you are working as hard as you can—or should. If the doll next to Numero Uno is a better violinist, and doesn't practice nearly as much as you, she is undoubtedly gifted—and you can't beat that.

Do your best, honey, then forget it. Angels can do no more.

Spring Wedding Is Planned

OLIVIA JEAN BERRY

Sugar Grove Reading Club Learns Decorative Frosting

Twenty-three members and three guests attended the Sugar Grove Reading Club meeting recently. The highlight of the gathering was the demonstration, given by Mrs. John Stuart, on the art of cake decorating. She illustrated, step by step, the making of roses and sweet peas; she decorated a layer cake, sheet cake and a selection of cupcakes. When she was finished members were reminded of a spring garden artfully created in frosting.

Presiding at the business meeting was Mrs. Victor Spatator, president. A motion was made and carried to put a memorial book in the Sugar Grove Library for Everett Stewart, former Sugar Grove resident. The library will have its annual drive during the week of April 21 to 27. Plans will be announced at the April meeting.

The membership also decided to purchase a subscription of "Child Life" and "The Golden Magazine."

Those present were also informed that the Sugar Grove Library will be closed for one week in the near future for necessary work on the floors. The Story Hour will be canceled for the month of May.

Hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. W.A. Storms, chairman, Mrs. Fritz Schoonover, Mrs. Ray Powers and Mrs. Donald Sherrard.

Duke in NIT; Houston, Bona Win NCAA Openers

The National Invitation Tournament completed its field by picking sixth-ranked Duke Sunday, leaving Iowa and Ohio State to play off for the last remaining spot in major college basketball competition, an NCAA berth.

The NIT selectors chose Duke despite its 12-10 stall loss to North Carolina State Friday night. They obviously preferred Duke's over-all record, 21-5, to North Carolina State's, 16-10.

North Carolina didn't help State's chances any, clobbering the Wolfpack 87-50 in their Atlantic Coast Conference tournament final Saturday night. That put North Carolina in the NCAA and Duke in the NIT.

North Carolina begins play in the NCAA Friday night against third-ranked and unbeaten St. Bonaventure.

Duke helps open the NIT, meeting Oklahoma City, 20-6, in the second game of a double-header Thursday night. The first game has Marshall, 17-7, going against St. Peter's, N.J., 21-2.

Doubleheaders Friday, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night will complete the first-round games in the 16-team field.

Iowa, which has beaten Michigan by 13 points on the road, had only to handle the Wolverines at home Saturday to clinch the Big Ten title and the final NCAA berth.

But the Hawkeyes spotted Michigan a 16-point lead, just failed to overtake them, 71-70, despite a 30-point performance by Sam Williams and dropped into a tie with Ohio State.

That set up a playoff at Lafayette, Ind., Tuesday night for a place in the NCAA championship tourney.

Houston, the nation's No. 1 team, and St. Bonaventure, No. 3, moved through NCAA first-round games without trouble and remained unbeaten, setting up these pairings for the regionals Friday:

At Raleigh, N.C. — Columbia 22-4 vs. Davidson 23-4, and St. Bonaventure 23-0 vs. North Carolina.

Den Satyshur Leads East to 10-A Crown

NEW WILMINGTON—Dennis Satyshur, Erie East's All-State candidate, sparked the Warriors to a 60-47 triumph over Meadville in the Westminster College gym Saturday for the District 10, Class A basketball title.

Satyshur, held to seven points in the first half by the Bulldogs, hit six-of-six from the floor after intermission and converted eight of ten free throws to finish with 27 points.

Meadville jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the opening minutes of play, ran it to 12-4 and led at the end of the stanza, 15-9. The Warriors outscored the Dogs 14-9 in the second period, but Meadville held on to the lead, 24-23.

Then Satyshur took charge. With the Warrior ace heading the attack, he poured 17 points through the hoop in the third period to only eight for the Bulldogs. Meadville came back strong in the last eight minutes, trailing by only four, 49-45, with 1:14 left, but then ran into foul trouble and the Warriors won it going away.

East made 18 of 23 attempts from the foul line to seven of eight for Meadville. The Warriors held a slim edge in field goals, 21-20.

LORENZO VOTED OUTSTANDING GRAPPLER

Navy Tops Easterns But State Wins Four Crowns

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It was tough to tell the winners from the losers after the Eastern college wrestling championships. "We knew it was going to be tough to win, but our kids really hustled and did a great job," said coach Ed Peery of Navy.

"They deserved it."

Peery guided the Middies to their first team title in 22 years at the same field house where he won the third of his three NCAA titles for Pitt in 1957.

But if he was happy, then coach Bill Koll of Penn State was ecstatic.

"Sure you like to win," said Koll, in the tournament's under-statement, "But I'll take our four individual champions and let them have the team title with the second and third places."

The Nittany Lions finished second with 72 points, to 92 for unbeaten Navy, but Penn State's four winners were the most by any team since Lehigh came in with six and set the tournament scoring record of 96 points in 1962. It was the largest number of champions for Penn State since 1937.

Navy didn't exactly win the crown with just seconds and thirds—the Middies had three champs. But Saturday night's finals were largely a Penn State show, as Wally Clark, Dave Spinda, Matt Kline and Rich Lorenzo grabbed four of the ten weight class crowns.

Penn State, though, placed only one other man, while all but one of Navy's wrestlers won places.

Lorenzo, a unanimous selection of the tournament's 16 coaches for the outstanding wrestler award, capped a brilliant season with an even greater tournament. He pinned all four of his opponents. Only one of them lasted more than 2½ minutes. In the championship round, he decked Gene Detwiler of Colgate in 2:25.

Ironically, Lorenzo, a senior from Newton, N.J., was the first Penn State wrestler to win the outstanding wrestler trophy since Sam Harry captured it in 1946—which was when Navy last won a team title. Harry was Kline's high school coach, and Kline's victory was the difference between Penn State and Navy in the finals.

Both teams entered the championship round with four wrestlers. Neither had a loser, except for the 160-pound bout that matched Kline with Navy's top-seeded John Kent. Kline won a referee's decision after they battled through overtime to a draw.

Navy's champs were Gary Burger, Pete Vanderloske and Mark Kane. The other titles went to Jim Clair of Franklin & Marshall, Jack Bentz of Lehigh and Dick Minekime of Cornell.

Defending champion Lehigh finished third with 57 points, its worst showing since 1960. Army had 39, Pitt 28 and F.M. 27.

The victories for Clark and d

Spinda were particularly gratifying for Penn State. While Clark was winning his title, a younger brother, Dave, captured a PIAA crown for Clearfield High School in the state meet at University Park. And Dave's twin, Dan, was narrowly beaten in the PIAA finals. Wally, one of seven wrestling brothers, blanked Pete Henning of Lehigh 5-0 to win his title.

Spinda, who won only two of ten matches in two seasons before this, climaxed a great comeback with a 6-2 verdict over John Homiak of F.M.

Pitt made its best showing in four years spearheaded by sophomore Bruce Unangst, a 4-2 loser to Burger in the 123-pound final. Penn State's Vince Fitz and Pitt's Terry Hoover grabbed third places and Ron Schuchert of Pitt placed fourth.

Baltimore End Berry Quits Grid

BALTIMORE (AP)—Raymond Berry, who overcame physical limitations through dedicated practice and study, has retired as the leading pass receiver in National Football League history.

Citing injuries which limited his 1967 action to six games, the 35-year-old split end of the Baltimore Colts said Sunday, "My body has reached the point that I'm not able to stay free of injuries any more."

"I don't think it would be right of me to try to continue playing when I don't feel I could give the team the kind of season it has a right to expect," he said before leaving for Texas to help with Baylor University's spring practice.

Although he caught only 11 passes last season, Berry ended a 13-year career with NFL records of 631 receptions and 9,275 yards. He scored 68 touchdowns.

The lean Texan, an All-Pro choice three times, was a future hall of fame player in the 20th round in 1954 while he was still playing at Southern Methodist.

"I knew it wasn't going to be easy," Berry said of his 1955 rookie season. "I was hoping to play that one year anyway."

After catching 13 passes for 205 yards in 1955, Berry jumped to 37 receptions for 601 yards the next season. After that, he was never under 43 receptions or 663 yards until 1967—teaming with quarterback John Unitas to form a potent aerial combination.

Richie's Back, But Unforgotten
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Rich Allen is home, but all apparently has not been forgiven. Allen, the controversial third baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, returned to the club's spring training camp Saturday after being absent without leave for 48 hours.

Phillies' General Manager John Quinn said Sunday Allen had been fined for leaving the team without permission. He refused to disclose the amount.

Quinn said that as far as he was concerned "the incident is over. It's a closed issue."

Manager Gene Mauch was as closed mouthed about the situation as Quinn.

Allen studiously avoided writers. "I'll be around," was all he would say to requests for an interview.

UNIVERSITY PARK — District 10 was blanked in the PIAA State Wrestling Championships here Saturday as all three of its representatives, including favored Fletcher Carr of Erie East, were defeated.

Carr, a runner-up at 180 last year, settled for that spot again, losing to Don Newhard of Allentown Dieruff in the finals, 7-3.

The bubble finally burst for Oil City's perpetual-motion sophomore Ed Wright, but he went down trying. After whipping Doug Closser of West Greene, 5-2, in the afternoon round, Wright failed in an attempt to pull one of his patented comebacks against Easton's Craig Fox in the finals and was decisively won by an 8-4 score.

McDowell's Rod Irwin, the only other District 10 grappler at Penn State, lost in the semifinals to George Dugan of German Township, the eventual 127-pound champion, 2-0 in overtime.

The Central Northwestern Region had three winners: Dave Clark (112) and Norm Palovics (120) of Clearfield and Bald Eagle Area's Lew Craig (165). The Northeastern Region led with four champs, the Southwest also had three and the Southeast took two titles.

The complete list of champions, with District and Region in parenthesis, was as follows: 95—John Bordell, Shamokin (4-NE); 103—Ken Hess, West Snyder (4-NE); 112—Dave Clark, Clearfield (9-CNW); 120—Norm Palovics, Clearfield (9-CNW); 127—George Dugan, German Township (7-SW); 133—Craig Fox, Easton (11-NE); 138—Lynn Housner, Mt. Lebanon (7-SW); 145—John Chatman, Trinity (7-SW); 154—Andy Matter, Upper Darby (1-SE); 165—Lew Craig, Bald Eagle Area (6-CNW); 180—Don Newhard, Allentown Dieruff (11-NE); heavyweight—Karl Ginder, Manheim Central (3-SE).

District 7 had three champions. Districts 4, 9 and 11 each had two and Districts 1, 3 and 6 accounted for one apiece.

Clearfield was the only school to emerge with two winners, ending a 12-year drought for the always-powerful Bisons. Ironically, it was Dave Clark who put Clearfield back on the champions list. Brother Ralph Clark, now head mat coach at McDowell, was the Bisons' last winner, taking the 138-pound title in 1956.

The tourney was dominated by underclassmen. Only 24 of the 48 semifinalists were seniors; 20 were juniors and four were sophomores. A total of 13 of the 24 wrestlers in the finals were underclassmen, ten juniors and three sophs.

Six champions were seniors, five were juniors and one, Chatman, was a sophomore. Junior winners were Hess, Clark, Housner, Newhard and Ginder.

Two sophomores were runners-up, Wright and Steve Wiser, 138-pounder from Bald Eagle Area. Five seniors and five juniors finished second. The juniors were Ed Matsko (95) of Jenner Boswell, Clearfield's Dan Clark (103), Larry Davidson (112) of Jersey Shore, Bill Luckenbaugh (120) of West York and Wilkes-Barre Coughlin's Chuck Chialada (heavyweight).

Newhard's 7-3 triumph over Carr in the 180-pound finals was clearly the upset of the tournament. The Allentown junior entered the tourney with a 20-0-1 record, including nine falls, to Carr's 23-0 with 19 pins.

Newhard had routed Kittanning's Terry Claypool, 13-1, in the semis while Carr was slipping past Mike Loercher of Manheim Central, 2-0. In the championship match, the Erie East strongman gained a takedown after 20 seconds, but Newhard scored in every period to win easily. He put Carr on his back for predicament points midway through the last stanza, then gave up an escape, but added another point for riding time.

Oil City's Wright was down 8-0 before he started his rally against Fox on a reversal with 35 seconds left in the middle period. The Oil sopher rode out the last two minutes, but couldn't turn his opponent over. Stalling cost Fox two points in the stanza and he was loudly booed by the standing-room crowd in Rec. Hall.

Irwin of McDowell gave up a second period escape to Dugan in their semi bout, then broke away himself in the last stanza to knot the score at 1-1, sending it into overtime. Dugan rode out the first extra period, then reversed Irwin in the second for a 2-0 victory.

There were only three pins recorded in the 36 matches, one in the semis and two in the finals. Bedford's Sam Beegle notched the lone afternoon fall, putting Bruce Lawrence of Hellertown away after 1:30 of the start of their 154-pound bout.

Ironically, Beegle was pinned in the championship bout by Matter, who led 12-0 at the time of the fall. Dave Clark had nailed Davidson in the third period of the 112-pound final.

Clearfield's Palovics provided two of the most exciting matches in the tourney. He out-quickened Les Peterson of Canon McMillan in the afternoon, 11-5, then scored a takedown and predicament in the final seconds of the title match to defeat Luckenbaugh, 11-3.

Dickinson Holds on, Wins Doral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Veteran Gardner Dickinson, surviving an almost disastrous bogey and double bogey on the final two holes, won the Doral Open Golf Tournament Sunday in a pressure filled, down-to-the-wire fight with young Tom Weiskopf.

In a tense day, during which the fortunes of the leaders rose and fell dramatically, Dickinson clinched the victory and $20,000 first prize with a par 72 and a 275 total, 13 strokes under par.

Surging from three strokes behind to deadlock Dickinson in the stretch, Weiskopf missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th for another bogey and lost his chance to force the tournament into a sudden death playoff.

Weiskopf, whose second place finish still showed him to the top of the year's money winning list, took a 73.

The turning point in the struggle came when Weiskopf, trailing by a single shot, ran into consecutive bogeys at the 14th and 15th.

With a cushion of three strokes, Dickinson came in cautiously, he parred the 16th and on the 17th, he drove a 60-foot putt eight feet past the cup and missed coming back for a bogey.

Then, when the 25-year-old Weiskopf ran down a 15-foot birdie putt, Dickinson's lead suddenly had shrunk to a single stroke.

After his experience on the last hole, Dickinson went into the locker room and watched as Weiskopf made his bogey and handed over the victory.

Study Indicates Riots Caused By Negro's 'Growing Identity'

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit psychiatrist completing a study of racism for the National Institute of Mental Health says social scientists should stop blaming the white man for all the trouble.

Dr. Elliot Luby, associate director of Detroit's Lafayette Clinic and professor of law and psychiatry at Wayne State University, says last summer's Detroit riot was "not an expression of apathy, hopelessness and despair."

Instead, Luby said, it was an expression of the black man's "growing identity, growing pride, growing esteem and an indication that the black man no longer is measuring himself in terms of the white man."

Luby's report on his findings was broadcast Sunday over the "Sunday Supplement" program of radio station WJR in Detroit.

Luby, who is white, was given a $135,000 grant by the institute, a branch of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to conduct his study. He and a staff of psychologists and psychiatrists interviewed 400 persons arrested in last July's riot and also talked to whites and Negroes in the areas where the rioting took place.

His findings are in direct opposition to a report released last week by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. The Kerner report placed much of the blame for the riots on white racism and Negroes' poverty and despair.

Luby, however, said he is "becoming weary of social scientists" making white people "culpable for all of the difficulties which blacks have experienced in this country." He said "this seems to be the etiquette of social science research today."

Luby said "Riots in the past have been related to notions of hopelessness and despair, to the unemployment and to poverty." However, he said, "Our studies strongly suggest that this (the rioters) was a well-employed group making an average of some $115 to $120 a week, a group which felt that it had substantially improved its status in the community during the past three to five years, a group that was very optimistic about its future."

"And certainly this was not a despairing group of men, or an impoverished group. They in a sense were making a good income and they were rather confident about themselves and their future."

When asked to explain why such people would riot, Luby said, "The closer the distance becomes between the lower and middle class, the more militant and aggressive and assertive the lower class becomes."

Luby said, "Black people... are now developing a sense of identity, a feeling of self-determination and feelings that they are able now to control their own community."

Norristown Racial Fight Triggers Call for Help

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Someone apparently panicked along the line," Chief of Police Robert G. Baxter said Sunday, in saying a need for extra police help to control disorders and vandalism that followed a fight between white and Negro youths.

"Our department could have handled the incidents," Baxter said. "There was no need for extra police."

He did not name the "someone," he said panicked.

Mayor Merritt W. Bosler said he called for extra police help as a "preventive measure."

Bosler declared a state of emergency when the disorders broke out shortly before Saturday midnight in this Southeastern Pennsylvania borough of 40,000.

The state of emergency ordering all taprooms, restaurants and other gathering places to close was lifted about two hours later after police had arrested 11 juveniles.

Police said damage from the disorders was less than $200. They began when several members of a Philadelphia motorcycle club who are white came out of a taproom and started arguing with several Negro youths.

At least two of the motorcyclists began fighting with the Negroes, police said, and one of the Negro youths was hit over the head.

Police arrested the cyclists, Roger D. Stuart, 22, and Donald Gajewski, 21, who were jailed in default of $1,000 bail each on charges of aggravated assault and battery.

The Negro youth, Robert Glover, 21, of nearby East Norristown Township, was hospitalized with severe scalp lacerations.

Baxter called the disorders "an ordinary, unfortunate fighting incident that could have happened anytime, any place."

He said there "were no racial overtones whatsoever; that reports of the disturbances being racially motivated are untrue."

About 100 policemen—40 from Norristown and 60 from surrounding communities—worked as teams to confine the disturbances to a 10-square-block area in a largely residential Negro area of the borough. They wore riot helmets and plastic face guards, and kept gangs of Negro youths moving.

State police from three nearby barracks were alerted, and several state police plainclothesmen went to the scene as observers.

Police said that while waiting 25 minutes for the arrival of an ambulance to take Glover to a hospital, about 300 Negroes congregated near the taproom.

When Glover left for the hospital, many in the crowd started converging on Borough Hall, a little more than two blocks away, for the arraignment of Stuart and Gajewski.

Police said it was then someone apparently called Bosler and told him there was a march on Borough Hall. The mayor declared a state of emergency and asked for outside police help. Off-duty Norristown police were ordered to report for duty.

Police said most of the incidents reported were minor. Stones were thrown at automobiles and windows broken.

In one of the incidents, police said, they arrested William Goudy, 19, a parole violator. Goudy was fined $25 and $9 costs on a malicious mischief charge. Police said he threw a bottle at an automobile, causing $30 damage. He denied the charge.

After arraignment, he was taken to Montgomery County prison pending a further hearing on a parole violation charge March 16.

Police said that in addition to Glover, two others were treated at Norristown Hospital and released.

Slippery Rock Prexy Finally Off the Job

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Robert S. Carter, former president of Slippery Rock State College, had a home no job Sunday.

Carter had originally resigned in February, but it took three board meetings before the trustees finally decided what to do.

The board accepted his resignation in February. It later learned it didn't have a quorum and met in March to accept the resignation again.

Finally students and faculty members complained the resignation didn't take effect until June, so the board met again Saturday and made the resignation effective immediately.

Carter resigned after the board stripped him of his power to fire faculty members.

The board gave Carter permission to live on campus until April 1. Robert E. Lowry, director of admissions, was named college administrator until a new president is selected.

Retired U.S. Teachers Attacked in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — A gang of Africans with tribal clubs called knobkerries attacked a group of retired American school teachers on tour Sunday and three of them were injured badly enough to be hospitalized.

The party of 18 members of the National Retired Teachers Association of America came under attack while in the Harare African area in Salisbury.

About two of the tourists were wounded.

Those in Salisbury Central Hospital are Gladys Long, 60; Theresa Kérbis, 72, and Frank Loughton, 75.

Their U.S. hometowns were unavailable.

A hospital spokesman said conditions were satisfactory.
